In appreciation of George Peabody's gift and the benefits that have come to its various sections through the proper distribution and use of the Peabody fund, the school children of the South celebrated the fiftieth anniversary of his gift to the South.

Chattanooga is offering nine sites to the government for the location of the government armor plate plant. The sites extend all the way from the Cincinnati Southern bridge to Look-out valley. One of the offers is for a tract of 500 per acre.

A Tennessee man has practically been agreed upon for the presidency of the Louisville Farm Loan Bank, which will serve Ohio, Indiana, Kentucky and Tennessee. It is understood that Mr. Howell, a banker of Union City, Tenn., is slated for this place.

Honage was paid to the memory of the immortal Lincoln at Cumberland Gap by speakers at the celebration of the twentieth anniversary of the founding of Lincoln Memorial University. Nearly 50 members of Congress, Senators and Representatives, delivered brief addresses.

The Nashville Bridge company can equip its plant for the manufacture of munitions, and in a telegram sent to Congressman Byrns at Washington requests that the proper authorities be notified of the desire of the company to aid the government in case of eventualities requiring the same.

Senator-elect Hiram W. Johnson, of California, has visited Senator John C. Houk, of Knoxville, his acceptance of the invitation recently extended him to address the Tennessee legislature. He indicated that he would be able to come about March 1, soon after the recess.

Dr. I. B. Simmons, of near Cleveland is living now in the same room where he was born 72 years ago, and has never occupied any other house. He was for years actively engaged in the practice of medicine, but on account of his age now only makes professional visits to friends. He was a soldier in the Civil war.

Gen. John P. Hickman, having been authorized to do so by the Confederate veterans, has sent the following telegram to President Wilson: "The Confederate soldiers of the arm of Tennessee, which I have the honor to command, tender you their services and moral support in case of war.—John P. Hickman."

A very conservative estimate places the amount of money scattered along the Dixie Highway, along detours while construction work is going on and along the East Coast route from the New England states enroute to Florida during the season of 1916-17 in excess of $2,760,000, according to V. D. L. Robinson, secretary of the Dixie Highway Association.

At the meeting of the board of trustees of Maryville college a resolution of thanks was adopted and extended to the people of Blount county for their co-operation in raising the fund to rebuild Carnegie hall, which has been completed and is now occupied by a great part of the 800 students of the college.

Governor Rye has sent the following telegram to President Wilson: "The President, Washington, D. C. The general assembly of Tennessee, by joint resolution, which I have just approved, expresses confidence in you to keep sacred the honor of the nation and gives assurances that Tennessee will follow wherever your judgment may lead. Tom C. Rye, Governor."

Bradley county's Elberta crop for the present year is doomed, according to the report of experts who have just finished the examination of the trees in the largest orchards. The warm days in January followed by the recent blizzard have been the ruin of one of the most valuable crops, the Elberta peaches, which are killed beyond a doubt.

The Citizens' Bank, Watertown, which was closed by the state banking department Jan. 19, reopened for business last week. Superintendent of Banks J. L. Emerson states that this is one of the good provisions of the state banking law—that a closed bank may resume business upon making good all differences and complying with all requirements of the law.

Secret orders received in Memphis by Captain J. C. Morrow from Washington resulted in the aviation corps of seventy-five men in Memphis hastening preparations for service work, such as accepting recruits and starting of the army aviation school. Daily practice work has begun. The school was moved to Memphis from Chicago.

All search for Raymond Stinnett, the 15 year old son of Mrs. Mary Stinnett, of Jefferson city, who disappeared from his home has proved unavailing. The boy left school, January 22, and was last seen in Knoxville. Stinnett has light hair, light complexion, slender, is five feet tall, and when he left home was wearing a blue serge coat, striped trousers, a corduroy cap, blue shirt and black shoes.

Although less than 46 years old, Mrs. Thomas Goens, formerly of Claiborne county in Tennessee, now residing near Craftsville, Ky., is the mother of sixteen children, twelve of whom are still living. There are no twins, Mrs. Goens says she has three sons in the U. S. army who will show their colors for the right should the impending trouble between this country and Germany result in war.

German citizens in Tennessee seeking information of any sort should apply to the Swiss Consul at Cincinnati. All of the German consuls will leave the United States, and the work of Consul Mezger at Cincinnati will be turned over to Edmund Luthy, whose address in Cincinnati is 1204 Vine street. Consul Mezger's territory was the same as that of the Swiss Consul, embracing the States of Ohio, Kentucky, Indiana and Tennessee.

The report of the state food and drugs department for January shows 170 towns visited and 1,275 inspections made by four inspectors. The inspection covered forty-five counties. Eleven different lots of food were condemned, including meats, canned vegetables, pickles, molasses, etc. Six short-weight and four fraudulent measuring devices were condemned. The inspections discovered many packages of food offered for sale not properly labeled and dealers were warned.

About three miles of the bed of the Knoxville, Sevierville & Eastern railroad extension has been built and work on the steel bridge across the river near Sevierville is progressing. The road is being extended from Sevierville to Gatlinburg, a distance of about twenty-five miles, for which rights-of-way have been secured. The extension is expected to be completed by July 1. This road is being built through some of the most valuable iron ore land in East Tennessee.

Considerable difficulty is being experienced by the legislative committee investigating claims against the state by citizens of the section adjacent to the Brushy Mountain mines caused by the overflow of Crooked creek. The records of the investigating committee of the legislature of 1911 have not been found, and the present committee is at a loss to determine just how many claims have previously been settled. Twenty-two claims are now registered against Tennessee on this score.

Although living within 100 miles of each other, William Adams, residing on the Claiborne county, Tennessee border, met his sister, Mrs. Ben P. Webb, of Sergeant, Ky., last week for the first time in about thirty years. They believed each other as dead. Through a local paper a year ago William Adams was located in Tennessee and a correspondence was begun by the brother and sister. Age had wrought such changes on the now aged couple that they failed to recognize each other at first.

Confederate naval historians in Nashville, recalled the fact that the first American vessel sunk by a hostile submarine in warfare bore the same name as the Housatonic, the first American steamer sunk by a German submarine since the break of diplomatic relations. The former vessel was the U. S. Ship Housatonic, sunk in Charleston harbor the night of February 17, 1864, by the confederate submarine H. L. Hunley. The submarine also went to a watery grave beside her victim.

FORCING BIG OVERTIME.

Head of Brotherhood Charges That

W. G. Lee, chief of the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen, in a recent statement charges that the railroads of the country are permitting delays to trains and overtime which would not ordinarily be permitted in order to prove the enormous expense that would follow obedience to the Adamson law. The statement says:

"The railways enjoined the government from enforcing the Adamson law. Additional litigation will hereafter very likely be started by the railways on the plea of determining to whom does the law apply or how does it apply?"

"Already the railroads are permitting delays to trains and overtime that would not be permitted under normal conditions."

"Recall, if you can, an instance where labor organizations have attempted to enjoin the government from enforcing a federal statute. Such organizations are law abiding instead of lawbreakers."

"Remember, the railways are not enjoining the brotherhoods, but are enjoining the government."

"The question is, after the supreme court has said the law is or is not constitutional, shall the employees whom President Wilson and congress declared should have the eight hour basic workday forget their request and continue to wait?"

LOW WAGES IN DETROIT.

Earnings of the Average Workman Not Sufficient to Support a Family.

"Average wages" paid the average grade workman in 75 per cent of Detroit factories is not enough to support a father, a mother and four children decently. To get along mother and other children must go to work. When mother and children work the home is neglected, the children become delinquent, and recruits are made for the great army of the inefficient. Ultimately society pays the bill." These startling statements were made by social workers at a meeting held at the Detention home, Detroit.

"The irreducible minimum on which six persons can live is $86.19 per month. Out of nine factories selected for study only two pay more than that. Most of them pay less. In fact, considering all classes of labor in these nine factories, it was found that 75 per cent of the workmen get less than the irreducible monthly minimum. The deficit is made good by child labor. Eleven industrial plants in Detroit are about ready to announce increases that will mean a living wage to their workmen." This statement is made by Boyd Fisher, secretary of the Executives' club. This organization is composed of manufacturers, members of the board of commerce and business men in general. Heads of some of the largest plants in Detroit are among its members.

Increase For Ironmolders.

The executive committee of the International Molders' Union of North America, representing about 15,000 men controlling the stove, furnace and heater output of the country, won concessions from the employers at a annual conference held recently at Atlantic City. An agreement was reached in which workmen receive an approximate increase in the wage scale of 18 1/2 per cent and the reduction of one-half hour in the working day, with certain new shop rules. The new agreement went into effect on Jan. 1.
